CONTENT AND OPERATION

The bill prohibits state agencies from entering into or renewing current contracts for the acquisition or provision of supplies, equipment, or services, or contracts for construction services, with companies unless the company declares that they are not boycotting or divesting from Israel. In order to enter into or renew contracts with state agencies, companies must include this declaration in the contract with the agency.

Companies also must include a term agreeing not to boycott or divest from Israel in any agency contract for the duration of the contract.¹

Under the bill, a company is boycotting Israel if the company refuses to conduct business or other commercial activities with the Israeli government, companies operating in Israel, or companies operating in territory controlled by Israel to protest the policies of the Israeli government. Similarly, a company is disinvesting from Israel if the company is withdrawing invested money from the Israeli government, companies operating in Israel, or companies operating in territory controlled by Israel to protest the policies of the Israeli government.²
