CONTENT AND OPERATION

Sales and use tax exemption for exports temporarily stored in Ohio

The bill authorizes a sales and use tax exemption for exports that are delivered into Ohio only for temporary storage and package consolidation before being shipped to a foreign individual or entity.

Under continuing law, state and local sales taxes apply to the sale of goods and certain taxable services within the state. The use tax complements the sales tax, and applies when goods or services are purchased outside of, but used, consumed, or stored in Ohio. The use tax is levied at the same rate as state and local sales taxes.

Several courts have considered when the use tax applies to goods that are shipped through or exported from Ohio, and not used here permanently. Under the U.S. Constitution, a state may not levy a tax on exports¹ or impose a "direct burden on foreign or interstate commerce."² Consequently, a use tax cannot apply to goods that solely travel through a state in the stream of commerce, or in the "export stream."³ However, if goods in interstate commerce are "halted temporarily" in Ohio, or if the process of exporting a good is not "continuous," the use tax applies.⁴

The bill provides an exception to this general rule for exports that pause in Ohio for the sole purpose of temporary storage and package consolidation. To qualify, the goods must be delivered into this state only for that purpose, and must be shipped to the foreign address of either an individual who is not a U.S. citizen or a corporation or other entity that is not incorporated or created under U.S. law.⁵

Effective date

The bill applies on and after October 1, 2017, and declares that it is an emergency measure as it is necessary to prevent imminent business closures.⁶
